THE INTERNATIONAL CRISIS AND THE POST-SOVIET STATES

Adam Smith Research Foundation, 66 Oakfield Avenue, 13-14 May 2010

The conference will seek to examine the implications of the financial crisis that began in late 2008 for the post-Soviet states, particularly Russia, Ukraine, Belarus and Moldova, and will also take account of the wider international context. It is expected that the papers, suitably revised and subject to evaluation, will appear in early 2011 as a special (double) issue of the Journal of Communist Studies and Transition Politics.

The conference takes place with the financial support of Lorton House, which sponsors the Journal, and of the Glasgow-led Centre for Russian, Central and East European Studies (CRCEES) as well as the British Association for Slavonic and East European Studies (BASEES).
