A1: Outputs	Excellence: The University adopts the approach established by the Research Excellence Framework (REF) for assessing the quality of outputs, as appropriate to your discipline: Originality - the extent to which the output makes an important and innovative contribution to understanding and knowledge in the field. Rigour - the extent to which the work demonstrates intellectual coherence and integrity, and adopts robust and appropriate concepts, analyses, sources, theories and/or methodologies. Significance - the extent to which the work has influenced, or has the capacity to influence, knowledge and scholarly thought, or the development and understanding of policy and/or practice. The overall quality ratings are described as: 4* - world-leading in terms of originality, significance and rigour. 3* - internationally excellent in terms of originality, significance and rigour but which falls short of the highest standards of excellence. 2* - recognised internationally in terms of originality, significance and rigour. 1* - recognised nationally in terms of originality, significance and rigour. In assigning a quality rating, you should make reference to the above criteria; reference to the supplementary criteria¹ for the REF Main Panels A, B, C and D may also be appropriate. In the case of jointly authored outputs, please ensure that you describe your contribution to the output.² In providing context for each output, you may refer to other indicators of quality as appropriate to your discipline. Examples include, article-level citation metrics (not journal impact factors), or external recognition e.g. prizes awarded. Where appropriate, a substantive monograph may substitute for 2 outputs. Outputs should meet funder and REF requirements for Open Access³. They should also exemplify best practice in open research, as appropriate to the discipline, including through the transparency of data, methods, materials, design and analysis, and practices that support replication⁴.
	A record of scholarly output over career to date which includes at least 4 outputs in the most recent 6-year period. At least 2 of these outputs should meet the REF criteria for 3* or better, with the potential that one or more could be graded as 4*.	A record of scholarly output over career to date which includes at least 4 outputs in the most recent 6-year period that meet the REF criteria 3* or better, with the potential that one or more could be graded as 4*.	A sustained record of scholarly output over career to date which includes at least 4 outputs in the most recent 6-year period that meet the REF criteria for 3* or better. At least one of these outputs should also meet the REF criteria for 4*.

A3: Supervision	Excellence is demonstrated, for example, by the success of supervised students, completion rates, or student prizes.
	Experience of PGR and research project supervision.	Leadership of PGR supervision, e.g., acting as a first supervisor.	PGR supervision in excess of the Russell Group median for the discipline: https://www.gla.ac.uk/myglasgow/humanresources/all/pa/y/professorialandgrade10staff/rgbenchmarkdata/
SECTION B: IMPACT	Excellence is demonstrated by providing evidence of how the reported activities are designed and undertaken, as well as providing evidence of the outcomes achieved in the pursuit of impact. Impact is a change or benefit beyond academia and can be to the economy, society, culture, public policy or services, health, the environment or quality of life. It is recognised that the intended impact may not have occurred yet.
	Participation in productive, externally facing engagement designed to translate the applicant's research into impact. Activities and outcomes should be described and evidenced. This is a mandatory requirement in order to satisfy this criterion. Meeting this sub-criterion on its own will, however, not meet the overall expectation and will be considered alongside other evidence to provided. Substantial track record of reflective and reasoned approach to teaching, course design, assessment and evaluation as evidenced through use of student feedback to evaluate and develop teaching and assessment, and development of new teaching materials or methodologies influenced by pedagogy of the subject. Enhancement of learning and teaching may also be demonstrated through the effective embedding of technology to support teaching and assessment; effective approaches to employability/graduate attribute development; and adoption of active learning and inclusive learning approaches including internationalisation of the curriculum. Contributing to growth of the UG or PGT student population, including international students, resulting in new income streams. External engagement in support of teaching in the discipline and/or generic improvements in the quality of learning and teaching including external examining of taught and research degrees. Candidates should note any other achievements that constitute evidence of their commitment to teaching excellence, such as teaching awards, the development of subject-specific teaching support materials/educational resources or guides or significant contributions to taught elements of PGR student programmes.

All professors on an R&T track must meet the required criteria for C (Learning and Teaching Practice) at R&T Grade 9. The exception to this is where an individual has been employed for less than five years on an R&T post in an UK University at the point at which an application for promotion or assignment to an R&T Professorship is made. In these cases, promotion or hiring panels will assess the commitment of the individual to Learning and Teaching Practice based on the opportunities that were afforded to the individual.
