

University of Glasgow

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL AND POLITICAL SCIENCES

The Scottish Enlightenment and the reform of civic ethics in the Nineteenth Century

One Day Symposium

10 June 2022

9.30am – 5pm

Yudowitz Seminar Room 1

University of Glasgow

Join on Zoom: <https://us02web.zoom.us/j/85824636440>

Meeting ID: 858 2463 6440

Convened by Dr Ian Cawood

University of Stirling

In collaboration with the School of Social and Political Sciences

Supported by AHRC

UNIVERSITY of STIRLING

Arts and Humanities
Research Council

Programme

9.00 - Registration

9.30

Keynote: Philosophical Research and Civic Education in the Scottish Enlightenment

Professor Gordon Graham (Princeton Theological Seminary)

10.15

Paper 1: Adam Smith and Public Business

Dr Craig Smith (University of Glasgow)

10.45

Questions

11.00-11.15 - Break

11.15

Paper 2: Scottish Enlightenment Abolitionism in the Lectures of James Beattie, Adam Ferguson and Dugald Stewart

Dr Bradford Bow (University of Aberdeen)

11.45

Paper 3: The Scottish Enlightenment on race and Empire: the case of Haiti

Dr Anna Plassart (Open University)

12.15

Questions

12.30 - 1.30 - Lunch

1.30

Paper 4: Ideas of corruption and the gendering of Scottish civic culture

Dr Rosalind Carr (Birkbeck College, London)

2.00

Paper 5: Periodical public ethics: Moral reason, critical knowledge and the post Scottish Enlightenment public sphere in the second Edinburgh Review.

Dr Alex Benchimol (University of Glasgow)

2.30

Questions

2.45-3.00 - Break

3.00

Paper 6: The Tears of Henry Makenzie: Sensibility, Sociability, and Security in the Politics of Loyalism

Professor Michael Brown (University of Aberdeen)

3.30

Paper 7: The "System of the North"? Dugald Stewart, Walter Scott, Henry Brougham and anti-corruption

Dr Ian Cawood (University of Stirling)

4.00

Questions

4.15 - 5.00 - Plenary Session

5.00 Close of Symposium

Register here: <https://forms.office.com/r/dYWe5r4GCs>